

Dance Sides at Broadstairs Folk Week

Have you ever considered dancing along a cliff top promenade in the sunshine? How about camping with your friends and family, and attending dances, concerts and shows maybe learning a new skill or improving an old one at a workshop. You could do all this in one fantastic week in August!

Then Broadstairs Folk Week would love to hear from you.

Our festival has been running since 1966 and has always had a strong theme of dance. Many morris sides have visited us over the years, giving the town its colourful atmosphere during the week.

We ask sides to busk and take part in our big parade. Some are asked to perform in show spots and run workshops if it's in your repertoire. In exchange we give all the performers a Festival ticket (for the days you are here performing). This is worth £39 a day each. To help us with our campsite running costs we ask for £5 a head per night for camping. Your Ticket gives you free entry into most of the Festival events. There are other family ticketing options which we can send you details on request. If your side is interested in coming to Broadstairs between 11th and 18th August 2017 please complete & return the form attached and we will send you more details.

We look forward to hearing from you!
